resumen / brief description >

in 2001 we were invited by the Free University of Bolzano and the gallery Ar/Ge to propose a project for the new faculty of informatics and design. what we actually wanted to realize couldn't be accepted by the direction (see > file sandpit), so the work we installed then in 2004 was kind of a spatial and conceptual compromise: agora_03 is made to be an autonomous island in front of the main auditorium of the university where students can meet, relax, and use it as stage/tribune. its form is inspired by the pelvis, made out of plywood and gives sitting space to ~ 50 persons, and its surface is explicitly open for graffities.
