resumen / brief description >

geografia affettiva is a project for an interface in the www to generate "transpersonal geographies". Each member of a group, a collective, a tribe, etc. can edit individually his motivations and moves. These informations become, regarding to related "form-fields", overlaid onto a precise map and gets a part from a growing geography of a community and its spatial connections and appearances. The "archive" then can be filtered and all maps and its edited spots and moves be overlaid. The fine-concept for geografia affettiva we developed in workshops in Perpignan, Marseille, Biella, Medellin, Gent and Seville, where we launched also the programs prototype - sevilla_scan.
